ICSEI Dialogic 2024

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

The ICSEI Dialogic is a multi-modal conversation which brings together and amplifies a range of perspectives, contexts, voices, and modes of influence. This is with the aim of documenting, enabling, promoting, pursuing, inspiring, and challenging dialogue, and engagement in sustained collaboration, conversation, and action that could result from this.

This year, the ICSEI Dialogic is being developed in partnership with the ICSEI Crisis Response in Education Network \(CREN\). The theme is:

The role, value and use of collaborative research to promote educational equity and improvement in the context of crisis.

This might include sub-themes such as:

- education and climate crisis;
- teacher-students' relationships and wellbeing post-pandemic; and
- the teaching profession, school networks and assessment during and after Covid-19.

Guiding questions include:

- What is the potential of relationships within and beyond schools for the learning and wellbeing of students, teachers, school leaders and families in a post pandemic context?.
- What is the role of teacher professional learning and development in addressing the Climate Crisis? How is it possible to foster community and student-centered solutions for the Climate Crisis? What is the role of educational leadership in addressing the Climate Crisis?
- What are the opportunities and barriers for teacher agency in a post pandemic context?
- How has the governance, the mobilisation of knowledge, and outcomes of educational networks changed during the pandemic and in a post pandemic context?
- How have the broader changes in assessment practices during COVID-19 influenced students, teachers, schools, and school systems in the short and long term?

ICSEI Dialogic invites YOU to contribute a short viewpoint piece in response to the above questions. Our aim is to bring together different perspectives for the 2024 issue of the ICSEI Dialogic.

Contributions from ICSEI members and friends (regardless of network affiliation) are welcome in many different forms: written, video, audio, or visual formats. Written submissions should be 500–750 words and audio/video submissions should be limited to a maximum of 5 minutes. Submissions in languages other than English are accepted.

ICSEI DIALOGIC

Please submit your work by November 28, 2023 to icsei.dialogic@gmail.com. The ICSEI Dialogic Committee will review all submissions and authors will be notified about acceptance by December 4.

As with previous Congresses, we will be holding an ICSEI Dialogic Fireside Chat during this year's gathering in Dublin, Ireland in January 2024. The session will be hosted by the Crisis Response in Education Network (CREN), which prepared this call at the invitation of the ICSEI Dialogic team. Details will follow once the conference program is confirmed.
